

Open a Portal to New Possibilities with IDH

Integrated Dental Holdings (IDH), the largest group of dental practices in the UK, is proud to launch its new website. Packed with useful information and practical features, this site will be a touchstone for dentists throughout the UK and the world who want to enjoy successful and rewarding careers in the UK with IDH.

The website has four key areas in which visitors can find helpful information:

Careers: in this section visitors will be able to search for vacancies divided by category. This area has been designed for easy navigation and boasts a rapid application process and the facility for applicants to attach their CV.

Find a Practice: this section lets patients search for a practice using town name or postcode.

Selling your Practice: practice owners who are thinking about selling their practice, and would like to know more about the IDH approach, can see an overview of the process and leave their details on an online form.

Information for PCTs: this password-protected section is for PCTs and requires registration to use. This section includes information on commissioning NHS services, establishing new practices, clinical governance and has a downloadable library of PCT reference documents.

Founded by dentists, for dentists, it is the IDH ethos of caring for patient needs and investing in the careers of dentists that has seen it develop working relationships with over 900 dentists.
